DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-82 are pending in the instant application and are subject to the following restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 2-3, 18-19, 27-28, 36-37, 48-49, 55-56, 62-63, 72-73 and 78-79 drawn to ultracentrifuge tubes, classified in class 422, subclass 102.
- II. Claims 1, 4-17, 20-26 and 29-34 drawn to methods of distinguishing between single-stranded DNA viruses, double-stranded DNA viruses and RNA viruses in a sample, classified in class 435, subclass 5.
- III. Claims 35, 38-47, 50-54 and 57-60 drawn to methods of determining the presence of specific microorganisms in a sample based on restriction endonuclease cleavage of genomic DNAs, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
- IV. Claims 61, 64-71, 74-77, 80-82 drawn to methods of identifying microorganisms present in a biological sample comprising the use of antibodies specific for the microorganisms, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Group I and Groups II-IV are related as product and processes of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the ultracentrifuge tubes of Group I can be used in each of the patentably distinct methods of Groups II-IV, as well as in other methods.

Inventions of Groups II-IV are biologically and functionally different and distinct from each other and thus one does not render the other obvious. The methods of Groups II-IV comprise steps which are not required for or present in the methods of the other groups: contacting dyes that can distinguish between the different types of viruses with the viruses in the sample (Group II), restriction endonuclease cleavage of genomic DNAs obtained from the microorganisms of the sample (Group III) and incubating the concentrated microorganisms with antibodies specific for the microorganisms (Group IV). The end result of the methods are different: distinguishing between different classes of viruses present in a sample (Group II), determination of pattern sizes of the nucleic acids obtained from concentrated microorganisms (Group III) and identification of microorganisms based upon their ability to bind to a labeled antibody against the microorganism (Group IV). Thus, the operation, function and effects of these different methods are different and distinct from each other. Therefore, the inventions of these different, distinct groups are capable of supporting separate patents.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 1636

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re

Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b),” 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
